DIGEST AND PURPOSE

Current law allows each university system board of regents to set a tuition rate for graduate programs and professional pharmacy programs at a level two times the rate specified in statute. For a professional pharmacy program, this results in a tuition rate of $80 per semester credit hour. Law programs are able to set rates at $160 per semester credit hour. Concerns have been raised regarding the sufficiency of the current rates and the ability of Texas professional pharmacy and law programs to remain competitive with other nationally-recognized programs. S.B. 1814 amends current law to allow each board of regents to set a rate of tuition for law and professional pharmacy programs at a level three times that specified in statute. The bill is permissive and does not mandate a change in fees.
